Hello! I am Katherine, a multidisciplinary designer

My main focus is about using the tools from strategic, critical and experience design to improve the course of weak signals and trends identified especially in the field of emerging technology and human behavior.

Trained in the master's degree "Design for emergent futures" I have learned to forecast upcoming disruptions and challenges in technological and societal fields and to develop the interventions to make a positive and innovative impact.

With 6 years of previous experience as design coordinator and senior interior designer. I have developed the necessary skills to decipher the unspoken needs of clients and users to generate meaningful and worthwhile experiences.
